PRESIDENT'S Message

Dear Friends,

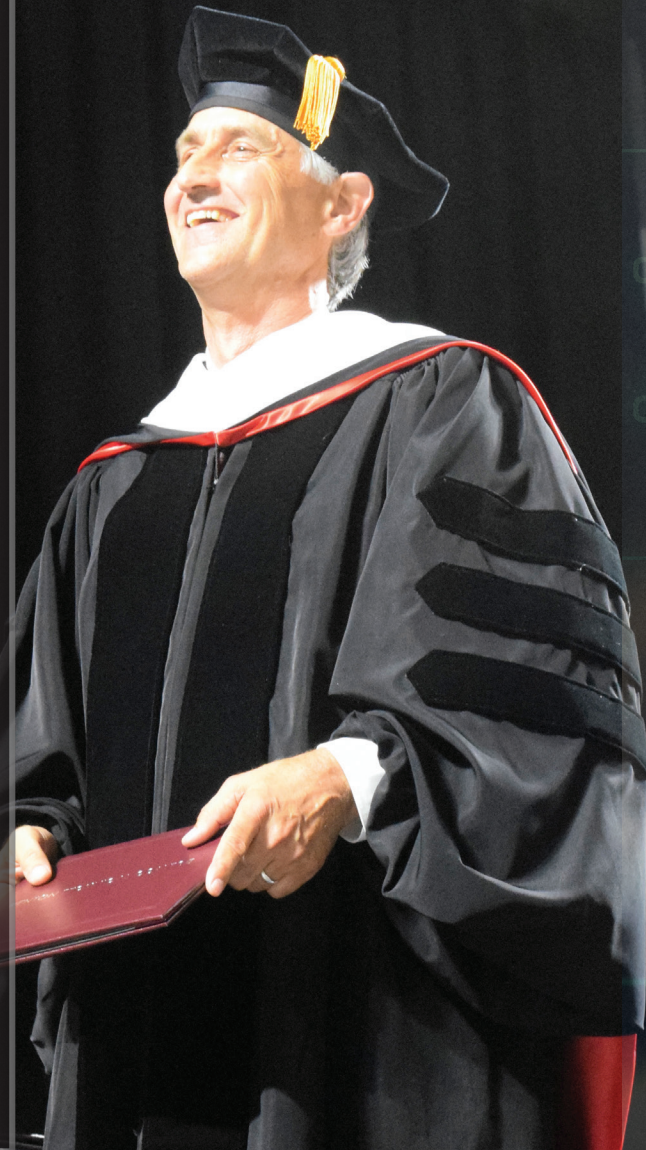

Observing our exceptional students and employees in action is one of my greatest joys as President of Renton Technical College. Whether in classrooms and labs, the Student Success Center, student government meetings, or on a national stage, every day I am inspired by their persistence, leadership, and dedication.

For example, Mohamed “Mo” Abdullahi, a member of the executive board of the Associated Student Government in 2016-17, was one of 20 students nationally chosen for the All-USA Community College Academic Team and was the student speaker at the Phi Theta Kappa Presidents Breakfast in New Orleans.

The College’s success depends on strong community partnerships and the support of individuals and companies across the region. Your gifts help countless students just like Mo achieve their educational goals. New scholarships such as the Watt Family Aerospace Diversity Fund, the Jan Pelroy Industrial Careers Endowment and the Theresa Smart-Benjamin Scholarship for Women provided $120,000 in scholarship funds during in 2016-17 - the highest in Foundation history.

RTC continues to be recognized nationally for equity, with our exceptional 61 percent completion rate and one of the highest job-placement rates in the state – 85 percent for completers. While these are exceptional numbers, we will not rest until all students – no matter their economic, social, or ethnic background – have the opportunity to succeed in high quality, hands-on, workforce education.

Dr. Kevin McCarthy, President, Renton Technical College

As we approach the end of 2017, there is much to celebrate: The opening of RTC’s state-of-the art Automotive Technology Complex, the doubling of Foundation scholarships and the return of the Celebrity Chef Dinners in honor of the late Norma Cugini.

Even with these accomplishments, we still are not able to meet the needs of RTC students. Every day we see students who are struggling to pay their rent, pay for tuition, books and tools, or even basic necessities like groceries. The upside is that the greater Puget Sound region continues to see tremendous growth in employment – local and regional employers have great need for our graduates. However, that does not meet the immediate needs of our students today.

Last year only 57 percent of all qualified students received scholarship support. That is the number we want to change so that no student is ever turned away due to lack of resources. Our goal is 100 percent, and all it takes is hard work and a community effort to see lives change through career and technical education. I hope you will continue to join us as we move forward in 2018 to achieve these important goals.

Mo Abdullahi

“The computer science program absolutely changed my life, and this summer my family got to see me walk across the stage at commencement and graduate with honors.”
~ Mo Abdullahi

From refugee to All-USA Community College Academic Team

For Mohamed “Mo” Abdullahi, the path toward a college education has included some major obstacles. His mother fled civil war in Somalia and arrived in the United States as a refugee when Mo was only a few months old.

Growing up in what he called, “a rough neighborhood,” he entered the RTC computer science program after high school, pursuing his studies while working evenings as a security guard and as a tutor.

In March 2017, Mo was selected as one of 20 community college students in the nation to be a member of the All-USA Community College Academic Team – recognized as the most prestigious academic honor for students attending community college.

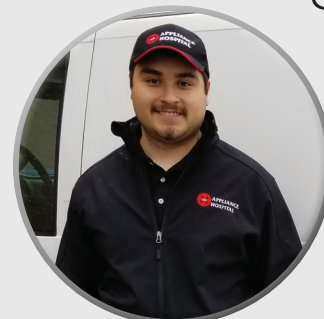

He is one of five recipients of the Washington State Association of College Trustees (ACT) Transforming Lives Award and the RTC Foundation Steve Hanson Student Leadership Scholarship.

David Cleaves

“Receiving a Foundation scholarship sparked in me more motivation and grit. Knowing you cared enough to give back made me want to be the best student I could possibly be.” David Cleaves, Marine veteran and Construction Management scholar

Christian Cunningham

Christian is a proud graduate of the Major Appliance and Refrigeration Technology (MART) program. Last year, an unexpected problem with his financial aid threatened his schooling. The Foundation stepped in with an emergency grant to fill that gap so he could finish his program.

How an emergency grant restored hope for this single mom

As the first in her family to go to college, Rachelle Mendoza chose pre-nursing after caring for a cousin who is legally blind due to undiagnosed diabetes. "What happened to my cousin could have been prevented, which is why I want to focus on a healthcare career."

Being a full-time student and working mom to three boys, including one with special needs, can be stressful. The Foundation provided Rachelle an emergency grant when finances got tight. "The grant helped with my car payment, and alleviated the stress so I could focus back on school. I am very grateful students have these additional resources," Rachelle says.

Rachelle Mendoza

"I was behind on my rent and had lost hope. It was starting to affect my school work."

Galina Onishchenko

For Galina Onishchenko and her family, the Foundation scholarship she received as a culinary student "felt like a million dollars!"

Galina came to the United States with her six children as refugees from the Ukraine in 1992. She learned English at RTC and a few years later jumped into the Culinary Arts program while working weekends in the catering department.

After 20 years working at RTC, Galina, her daughter and granddaughter opened the Biscuit House in Lakewood. An immediate success, the family has now opened a second restaurant in Tumwater and see themselves as truly living the "American dream." You are always welcome at their table! www.mybiscuithouse.com

"The huge gift of an education will never be forgotten." - Galina Onishchenko

Zahraa Ismael

After the war forced Zahraa Ismael and her family to leave Iraq, she found a new home and an exciting career path in engineering design at RTC.

"My goal is to work in architectural design and to someday be a teacher. Thank you so much for caring about students like me. I am proud to call Renton my home and to live with you in this community."

~ Zahraa Ismael, recipient of the Vern Gambriell Scholarship

Lifetime of giving reflects Andee Jorgensen's legacy at RTC

“It’s the stories that inspire me. The work that RTC does is life changing to so many people. The college provides people an open door and gives them the tools and support they need to succeed in work and life. I read the student scholarship applications and say, wow! What goes on at RTC is so life-affirming.”

There are many words to describe Andee Jorgensen: Selfless, inspiring, gracious, generous and an unsurpassed supporter of RTC, its mission and its students.

In October, Andee passed away after a three-month battle with cancer. She was known as one of the community’s brightest lights who truly embodied “service above self.” Friends and family have shared how the depth of her love and caring for people awakened the goodness in others. Her leadership and service to RTC spanned three decades; serving three terms as a Trustee from 1993 to 2004, as RTC Foundation board president– twice, and most recently as a valuable member of the scholarship committee.

At the 2017 Student Success Breakfast, the RTC Foundation recognized Andee and her husband Rich Wagner’s longtime support of the College with the first “Lifetime of Giving” award for their generosity and service to the College.

Attendees enjoyed an informative discussion on the future of healthcare from thought leaders Sofia Aragon, executive director of the Washington Center for Nursing, Darcy Jaffe, chief nursing officer at Harborview Medical Center, Rich Roodman, CEO of Valley Medical Center System and Dave Sabey, president of the Sabey Corporation and founder of the Seattle Science Foundation.

Community comes out for a grand opening worth $20 MILLION!

“Without the training and expertise of Renton Technical College we would have a difficult time finding and training quality technicians in today’s market. The automotive partnership we have with RTC will help us for many years to come.”

~ Michael O’Brien, Owner,
O’Brien Auto Group

O'BRIEN
AUTOGROUP

“The RTC Grand Opening was outstanding. The state-of-the-art equipment and the professional training the instructors are providing students is so important for the future of the automotive industry.”

~ Jeff Lovell, President, Automotive Service Association Northwest

Over 400 people toured RTC's new $20 million automotive technology complex in May. Car collectors showcased their wheels, and everyone enjoyed live music, international cuisine and food truck fare.

The event sponsored by the O'Brien Auto Group, provided hands-on demonstrations and student-led tours of the new 63,000 square foot complex. Auto technicians are in high-demand throughout the state with jobs waiting for program graduates and starting salaries at a median of $57,000.

Proceeds from the event sponsors went to support scholarships for automotive students.

The grand opening featured a career fair sponsored by numerous local companies and organizations including: AAA Washington, ASA Northwest, Car Pros, Car Toys, Firestone, Ford ASSET, Fred Meyer, Honda of Seattle, Iden's Dealer Services, Pepsico, Toyota of Seattle and Walker's Mazda Subaru.

2017 Exceptional employee awards

Many thanks to First Financial Northwest Bank for their support and sponsorship of the 2017 awards and breakfast.

A family steps up to improve WOMENS' LIVES

“As a life-long supporter of education, I have seen first-hand how important the education of women is and how it helps their families and improves their lives. My mother, Theresa, was a huge influence in the lives of women around her and so in honor of her and her leading example of the power of education, my family has established this scholarship for women who have taken two quarters of Basic Studies advanced level coursework.”

~ Michele Lesmeister, RTC Faculty member for Reading Apprenticeship, Basic Skills for Adults and Transition to College.

Because of the generosity of Michele and her family, nine women will receive a $1,000 scholarship during the 2017-18 academic year to support their transition into career training – a vital step toward greater independence and family-wage jobs.

2017 SCHOLAR & DONOR RECEPTION

RTC President Kevin McCarthy greets Foundation benefactor Bernadene Dochnahl

Latoya Forks, Marine veteran with fellow veteran and former RTC instructor Larry Price

“The RTC veterans department is knowledgeable and helpful when it comes to meeting the needs of veterans. RTC also has a highly rated automotive program, which is why I chose to attend here. Attention to detail, the ability take on and complete challenges, and adapt to change are all huge things I have taken from my military experience. The automotive field requires all of this to be a good technician.”
~ Latoya Forks, recipient of the U.S. Marine Corps Support Group Grant

New Watt Family AEROSPACE DIVERSITY FUND OPENS CAREER DOORS

“We know how hard it can be to pay for education and hope to ease the burden in some small way for students who see a future for themselves in aerospace but need some help to get there.” Bob Watt, former VP of Global Corporate Citizenship, State & Local Government for Boeing

Juanita and Bob Watt present Dr. Kevin McCarthy with $10,000 for the purchase of a new diesel truck for the automotive program.

In December 2016, Juanita and Bob Watt created a generous scholarship with the goal of opening more doors of opportunity. “The aerospace sector needs to harness the tremendous skills and energies of people from all kinds of backgrounds, and we want to help more students of color find their way into successful, interesting and challenging careers. They can benefit from the kind of superior training and education that Renton Technical College provides, and being well prepared for what lies ahead is one of the best ways to live a successful and fulfilling life.”
~ Juanita and Bob Watt

For Francisco Martinez, precision machining technology instructor at RTC, his passion in life is to pass 30-years of knowledge forward through his students. As a young man he went from engineering, led by what he called, “the desire to make things with my hands.”

“The sky is the limit in the precision machining field, and it is an industry which is constantly changing,” Francisco says.

That optimism is why he created a new endowment with a gift of $25,000 – setting up an enduring legacy through future generations of students.

“I’ve seen the struggles of my students and I want to make sure they have the resources they need to access these great careers.”

Parker called
“TRUE FRIEND” of RTC

“Dad was all about accessibility. It’s why he valued education and supported education access for others.”
~ Jason Parker

Before former RTC Foundation board member, longtime Renton City Councilmember and business leader King Parker passed away in May, RTC had the chance to honor him. The RTC Foundation Board created the King Parker MART Career Scholarship Fund and made a special announcement about it during the Student Success Breakfast in February.

“We’re all grateful King was at the event to be honored for his generosity with the creation of a scholarship in his name,” said Stan Kawamoto, board president, “He was a true friend to the college.”

Longtime family friend Terry Higashiyama, who served with King on the RTC Foundation board as president, shared that King never missed a board meeting and always came prepared. “He had attended community college after serving in the Navy and he recognized what a gem Renton Technical College was in our community,” Terry said.

Students in the MART program will benefit from a scholarship named for King Parker, the late owner of King & Bunny’s appliance store in Renton.

If you would like to make a gift in memory of King Parker, please go online to: rtc.edu/scholarship-donation.

Celebrity Chef Dinners return in honor of NORMA CUGINI

“She was the strongest person I’ve ever known and a real go-getter. She would focus on supporting what was most valuable to her and make good things happen in the community.”

~ Crissa Cugini, Norma’s daughter

Dinner & auction raise over $20,000 for RTC culinary arts

This summer Renton lost a true treasure when Norma passed away in July at the home she had shared with her late husband Alex for 60 years on Renton Hill.

Described by friends and family as strong, beautiful, and inclusive of everyone in the community, Norma believed in culinary arts education. Her passion was for quality food and the education of young people to create great food.

The Celebrity Chef Dinners were Norma’s brainchild and after a 10-year hiatus, it is a fitting tribute to bring them back to honor a woman who knew the art of living and worked to make Renton a better place for everyone.
